Your opportunity to be involved.

Culture is a powerful force for renewal and regeneration. Museums and galleries are often called 'engines of thinking', and access to the arts is proven to improve outcomes for learning, health, and wellbeing. Our collections and programmes foster creativity and inspire personal empowerment.

Inspiring Art and Music will create a world class cultural hub in Aberdeen.

We invite you to join our exclusive new annual Corporate Membership packages.

Aberdeen Art Gallery and Museums Corporate Members represent local to international businesses that value art and culture, and support Aberdeen's cultural renaissance.

Our Corporate Members also Support our education and Community outreach programmes, Engaging with people from across the North East and visitors, ensuring art and culture have a prominent place in Aberdeen.

The redevelopment of Aberdeen Art Gallery and Cowdray Hall is the most significant improvement to Aberdeen's cultural landscape
since Aberdeen Art Gallery
first opened in 1885.

Becoming a Corporate Member shows your business shares our enthusiasm for increasing access to art and music, and our commitment to cherishing and sharing the city's collection with future generations.

The support of North East businesses will make a significant difference to what the Art Gallery and Cowdray Hall can achieve.

Aberdeen Art Gallery was founded thanks to the generosity and foresight of Aberdeen businessmen.

Our first three Patrons were art collector John Forbes White, the artist George Reid and local granite merchant and collector of art, Alexander Macdonald.

130 years later, Aberdeen Art Gallery is being redeveloped to showcase and conserve the city's collections of Recognised National Significance.
